KANSAS HEAD COACH BILL SELF

On Marcus Garrett's play with about 35 seconds remaining in the game, which was reminiscent of a Devonte' (Graham) play a few years ago:

"Huge. I told the guys it was like Devonte's play two years ago. Devonte's play clinched the Big 12 Championship. This one wasn't as big, but it was the same exact situation. Nothing going on. Nothing. He (Garrett) puts his head down and drives it and throws a little mini running hook and over 54 (Russel Tchewa), if I'm not mistaken, I could be wrong, maybe Califfe (I cannot figure out who exactly he's talking about here???) was in that time. But to score over top ... I thought they would try to foul Dok (Udoka Azubuike), so I told Dok to get in the corner and not move because we needed him on defense. Dok wasn't himself today; he wasn't great by any stretch. Dot (Devon Dotson) got some numbers, but he wasn't great. Nobody was really great offensively, but if you guard and rebound, you always have a chance."

On how nice it is to have four days off before the Big 12 Championship grind, with the possibility of games for three-straight days:

"Well, everybody's got that. But, yeah, it'll be nice. We're going to play, if I'm not mistaken, Okie (Oklahoma) State or Iowa State? Is that right? Is it done? So we'll look forward to doing that. Both of them can give us problems, obviously. Iowa State will bring half of Ames to the game (laughter), so if we play them we've got to be ready. But even bigger than this weekend, we put ourselves in a favorable position. Hopefully we can get some rest. We're not going to get a lot of rest if we're able to play three games this week but still, tomorrow will be a rest day, Monday may be a rest day too, just to let our guys kind of heal up a little bit and get their legs underneath them. It's been a grind. We need to get our minds fresh also."
